LONDON IS BITTER. CURSES FOR THE BURGHERS. IA. P. DAY REPORT.1

LONDON, April 4.—[By Atlantic Ca-ble.] The news of the attempt on the life of the Prince of Wales spread with life of the Prince of Wales spread with marvelous rapidity in all parts of London, and created the most intense excitement and bitter indignation among all classes. The fact that the attempted assassination occured in a city where D. Leyds, diplomatic agent of the Transvaal, has made his headquarters, was generally taken to indicate that the would-be assassin was a Boer sympathizer, and this so inflamed the passions that the most bitter invectives were hurled against the Boers and everything connected with thenul. The government was wholly ignorant of the attempt on the life of the Prince of Wales until the prass dispatches on the affairs were communicated to the

The would-be assassin is a tinsmith named Sipido, a resident of Brussels, if years old. His pockets were found to be full of anarchistic literature. He fired two shots at the Prince. The Prince of Wales and others were in the car, but no one was touched. BRUSSELS, April 5.—For a time Sipido seemed more inclined to cry than to give coherent answers to the questions of the commissary. Meanwhile the police had ascertained that on the previous evening he had attended a meeting at a local theater in favor of the Boers. Several of the speakers had advised those present to make a demonstration in such a way that the Prince of Wales, in passing through Brussels, could no longer he mistaken with respect to the sympathies of the Belgians, or doubt that they were overwhelmingly in favor of the Boers. It is supposed that these utterances influenced Sipido. Sinido subsequently said he wanted [A. P. NIGHT REPORT.]

On hearing the shots, the station-master rushed to the scene and knocked down the would-be assassin's arm as he prepared to fire a third shot, and a number of persons threw themselves on the Prince's assailant. In the confusion, a second man, who was quite innocent, was seized, roughly handled and heaten. innocent, wand beaten.

After the Prince of Wales had ascertained that the man who fired the shot had been arrested, he declared himself and the Princess uninjured, and the rain started.

CONDEMNED BY ALL. BRUSSELS, April 4.—The attack is demned by the press and even at the labor headquarters here and at the DUBLIN WHOOPING IT UP FOR THE Malson du Peuple, where the extreme anarchists meet, a leading member of the Young Socialist Guard was loud in his denunciation this evening of Sipido's action.

Sipido has a round, boyish face, black eyes and dark hair. At the examination before the magistrate, it was ascertained that he had purchased a penny ticket in order to reach the de parture platform, where he walked up and down quite a while, at the same time the Prince was promenading. People who attended at the Malson People who attended at the Malson du Peuple yesterday say they heard Sipido declare that if the Prince came to Brussels he ought to have a bullet in his head, and they also heard him offer to bet f.5 that he would fire at the Prince.

NEW YORK. April 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch. Copyright, 1900, by the New York Tribune.] The Tribune's London cable, dated April 5, says intense excitement has been aroused by the news of the attempted assassination of the Prince of Wales at the Nord Railway station in Brussels. At first there was a general tendency to discredit the report, but when it was officially confirmed by a notice posted at the Mansion House last night, the utmost indignation was expressed, more especially as it was felt that the outrage was attributable to anti-English agitation on the continent, which has become so pronounced since the outbreak of the war in South Africa, and which has been fostered by the foul articles which have for months past disgraced the columns of the Belgian press. Even the leading newspapers of Brussels have not hesitated to publish scurrilous articles in abuse of England and the English. British Lines to Be Harassed So as to Delay His Northward Advance. The General not Likly to Strike Until He Can Deliver a Crushing

IA. P. NIGHT REPORT.1 LONDON, April 5, 5 a.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] It looks today as though the Boers had conceived the audacious plan of attempting to invest Lord Rob-erts at Bloemfontein, or at least to en-deavor to delay his northward advance by harassing the British lines of communications. On his side, Lord Roberts is concentrating his forces and preparing to take every advantage of the bold, but risky tactics of the enemy. He is not likely to strike at any

There is little doubt that Lord Roberts is hampered by the necessity for remounts and transports, and the loss of the convoy guns and all of Col. Broadwood's baggage was a serious matter. The Boers are now trusting to what they believe to be their superior mobility. TRYING TO SURROUND.

Ex-Official Says He Was not She at, but Was Cordially Welcomed by Boers All Through the Transvaal. Pretoria Judged to Be Absolutely

(A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.)

NEW YORK, April 4.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that after Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock sent to Webster Davis a brief note in which he said the President had asked him to announce that Mr. Davis's resignation had been accepted, to take effect April 4. Mr. Davis felt at liberty to talk freely upon the South African situation, and to a friend he related the history of his trip.

situation, and to a friend he related the history of his trip.

"My journey was uneventful until wo crossed the Transvaal border and stopped at Koomadipoort," he said. There the whole neighborhood turned out and welcomed me. At station after station the stationmaster would come to the car, touch his red cap, and ask if there was anything he could do for my comfort. Yet the English told me with great positiveness that the savage Boers would shoot me as soon as they learned I spoke English. They tell this lie so much at Cape Town that they even got Col. Stowe, our Consul there, to believe it.

"At Pretoria, I was given a cordial greeting. Marvelous to state, during all the time I was there, not one man asked me whether I favored the British or the Boers. I viewed the defenses of Pretoria and I consider them impregnable. I do not believe the English troops will ever pass the line of hills surrounding the town, bristling as they are with high-power Krupp and Creusof guns.

"There seems a very general impression that the guns used by the Boers in the field were taken from the fortresses at Pretoria, but I saw every earthwork and fort surrounding the town, and I could not see where any guns had been removed. They were all there, and formidable they looked.

"When I describe the city as impregnable, I speak from the judgment of a man of common sense. Pretornalies in a basin surrounded by rugged hills, affording most admirable opportunity for defense. While there I learned enough to know that the city is one vast storehouse of food stuffs and ammunition.

"What impressed me most was the natural bigness of that grand old man, Kruger. I consider him as possessed of more of the elements of greatness than any man I ever met. At 75 he is as full of vigor as the average man of twenty years less. His versatility impressed me deeply.

"I have it on unimpeachable authority that the battle of Colenso, where Buller was crushed by the Boers, was planned entirely by this old man away up there in Pretoria.

"I was present at the bat an old man away up there in Pretoria.

"I was present at the battle of Spionkop, and saw a thin line of Boers drive an army before them. After the fight I walked over the field and counted the dead bodies of 125 Englishmen in one trench, where the Boers had placed them for burial. During my stay in the neighborhood I visited every leager in the lines surrounding the city, and talked with scores of officers and men.

"I visited the lines along the Tugels, where Buller and his 40,000 men were held at bay, and I speak from the most positive knowledge when I say that all of the Boer troops in that region numbered but 7000. With this force Joubert and Botha held Buller back, and kept White and his 15,000.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Peace was restored in the Senate before the body convened, and during the proceedings of the session there was only a reminder of the harsh language used just before adjournment yesterday. The session opened with a lively and interesting discussion of the status of the Quay case, in the course of which Mr. Wolcott apologized for the language he had used yesterday, disclaiming any intention of being offensive to anybody, least of all to his friend, Mr. Lodge.

The Colorado Senator made a vehement and eloquent appeal for an sarly action upon the Quay case. He was was supported by other friends of Mr. Quay, and it was decided finally to take up the case to morrow under the unanimous consent agreement made March 16. In accordance also with that agreement, the Spooner bill was made the unfinished business, thereby bringing the Philippine question to a direct issue in the Senate.

It was an exciting scene in the House [A. P. NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—SENATE.
Mr. Stewart presented a petition from citizens of Cuba, representing $150,000,000 of capital, "praying Congress to enact a law prohibiting the use of the United States military power to prevent the landing of a competing cable from the United States."
Mr. Morgan called attention to a rule of the Senate that provides that no petition should be offered from citizens of a foreign country except through the State Department. He did not object to the petition because he actions of Senators gave some support to it.

There is a great State," said Mr. Wolcott, "which is not-represented here as it is entitled to be. That State has almost as many inhabitants as there are Tagalos in the Philippines, and 'yet Senators will hold one of its Senators at the door of this body. It is not a question of the personality of Mr. Guay, but one of proper representation of the State of Pennsylvania.

"Here we have a Senator, brave, kindly and able, true to the people of his commonwealth. He is rightfully entitled to a seat in this body as an apponintee of the Governor. The Senator has been subjected to more vicious and overwhelming attacks than any man in oublic life today. It is cruel if this Senate, where he served with honor and distinction for twelve years, shall give him the final stab which may end his public career."

Mr. Wolcott then referred to Mr. Wheeler as a citizen thereof. Wheeler as citizen thereof. Whe

In conclusion, Mr. Wolcott appealed of the Senate to proceed with the case without obstruction, and vote upon it at an early date.

Mr. Gallinger of New Hampshire said be wanted to repudiate the statement of Mr. Wolcott, so far as it concerned lim. He had laid nothing in the way of consideration, and would not do so at any time. Mr. Burrows also said he and no idea of obstructing a vote, and he was desirous that an early vote be had. Mr. Stewart asked that a final vote be taken a week from next Tueslay, but Mr. Gallinger objected.

The Quay case then went over until tomorrow, with the understanding that Mr. Gallinger should speak on the resolution at that time. At this juncture. Mr. Lodge made a few remarks, and the incident closed pleasantly. Referring to the incident of yesterday, Mr. Lodge said that no explanation from Mr. Wolcott was necessary to assure him that he (Mr. Wolcott) had mean no personal reflection upon him in his remarks of yesterday.

At Mr. Carter's request, the Alaska Code Bill was then taken up. Mr. Mororsan made an endeavor to have a day set for consideration of the Nicaraguan Canal Bill, but Mr. Mason objected, saying that he favored the canal bill, but he did not want the time determined until the fate of the Hav-Pauncefote treaty was known. He did not believe that the people generally would want the canal at all, if it was to be constructed under the terms of the treaty. This objection served to prevent the granting of Mr. Morgan's request.

Consideration of the Alaskan bill was proceeded with on the basis of vent the granting of Mr. Morgan's request.

Consideration of the Alaskan bill was proceeded with on the basis of Senator Hansbrough's amendment for the exclusion of alien miners from the mines of Alaska. In this connection Mr. Hansbrough had a letter read from an American miner, complaining of the mining regulations of the Canadian government as unjust and oppressive. The writer said that he had addressed a letter to Secretary Hay demouncing the Canadian retroactive law as highway robbery.

Mr. Platt of Connecticut suggested careful inquiry into the Canadian laws sefore taking action on the Hansbrough amendment, saying that retaliation on the part of Canada might follow. After some further discussion, action upon the amendment was postponed.

The Spooner bill, at 2 o'clock, was made the unfinished business, and was then temporarily laid aside to permit continuance of the consideration of the Alaskan bill.

Mr. Berry suggested an amendment providing for the opening to mining and prospecting of the sixty feet of land along the Bering Sea coast reserved under law for a roadway. Pending action, a brief executive session was held.

The Senate then, in forty-five minutes, passed eighty-one pensions bills, pensions of $50 a month being granted to the widows of Rear-Admirals Calhoun and Meade and of Commodore Inch and of Col. Lister.

[A. P. NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, April 4.-Mr. Mcwashington, April 4.—Mr. McDowell said he approved some of the features of the bill, but he was severe in his condemnation of the tenth section, which he said continued in force through the State Department. He did not object to the petition because he believed that Cuba held such a relation to the United States as could be dissolved only by Congress.

Mr. Spooner said the rule was founded in good sense, and he believed the petition ought to come through the State Department.

At the conclusion of the morning business the chair laid before the senate the resolution declaring that Hon. M. S. Quay was not entitled to a seat in the Senate from Pennsylvania. That the question might be abrought to a direct issue, Mr. Chandier, chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, moved to strike out the word "not" in the resolution.

Speaking to this motion, Mr. Burrows and he would be giad to proceed with the case today, but a very important matter involving the seat of a Senator was under consideration by the Committee on Privileges and Elections, and the attendance of the members in the committee-room was necessary.

"I ask, therefore," said Mr. Burrows, "that the present order be continued until next Tuesday. We can then proceed with it, I hope, without interruption."

COEUR D'ALENE INQUIRY.

MANY LIVELY CONTROVERSIES.

[A. P. DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The crossexamination of Frederick Burbridge, manager of the Bunker Hill mine, was continued in the Coeur d'Alene investigation today. There were frequent animated controversies between members of the committee. One of these occurred over the authority of Mr. Crosthwaite, one of the private counsel, to appear.
He denied that he represented the Bunker Hill mine or Gen. Merriam, and said he was retained and paid by Gov.
Steunenberg.

Representatives Hay and Dick also joined issue over the extent of the inquiry, Mr. Hay contending that it was being curtailed to the prejudice of those making the charges, while Mr.
Dick insisted that some limitation was essential in order to get through. During Mr. Burbridge's testimony he stated that he was not a United States citisen at the time he became manager of the mine, but was admitted to citizenship the following year.

no trouble exists in either Nicaragua or Costa Rica.

The news confirms information received by the State Department showing that Minister Merry has been successful in the use of his good offices in averting war between the two republics. While Costa Rica is still prepared for defense, she is not making any hostille movements against Nicaragua.

The Philadelphia will be kept on the west coast and the Detroit on the east coast until the authorities are fully satisfied that there is no further danger to be apprehended.

Admiral Dewey will have the distinction of being the only living American to whom a historical case in the museum has been assigned. The collection will be deposited in accordance with an unwritter rule of the museum that no contribution can be accepted for less than two years, so that it will be on exhibition for at least that time, with every likelihood of never being removed. The exhibit will be in place by the end of this week.

[A. P. DAY REPORT.]

to be pursued on the Puerto Rico Tar-iff Bill was the subject of much informal conference among the House members today, but no exact line of members today, but no exact line of action was announced.

Chairman Payne of the Ways and Means Committee, to which the bill had been referred, said it was futile at this early stage to say what course the committee would adopt. He conferred with the Speaker, but no statement was made as to any probable line of action. It is understood a plan which has received some consideration and support is for the substitution of the House plan of Territorial government for the Senate plan; a non-concurrence in the Senate amendments on the tariff sections; a debate in the House probably under rule, and the submission of the whole subject to a conference committee of the two houses under conditions mentioned. ferred with the Speaker, but no statement was made as to any probable line of action. trol of Korea and This the Former Will not Put Up With-Massing of the Czar's Warships and Troops. IBY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMER!

VICTORIA (B. C.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Everything points to war between Russia and Japan, over their differences regarding Korea. The Japanese papers now speak of the war as a certainty, as everywhere the preparations of the two powers for the struggle are openly discussed. Russia is practically in control of Korea, and is forwarding troops and warships to the scene of the impending trouble. Several Russian officials have visited the Hermit Kingdom, including Alexiers, the Russian governor-general of Liao Lung peninsula. These visits were followed by the announcement of a loan by Russia to Korea of 3,000,000 yen and of the appointment of a Russian adviser to Korean officials. Russia, too, is negotiating for the purchase from China of New-Chang, which would command the river.

At Chemulpo, there are five Russian warships and two troopships recently arrived with over two thousand men. The Russian Pacific fleet is also believed to be on the way to the Asiaticoast. The white people of Japan are greatly excited over these menacing actions. They are averse to striking the first blow, but are, nevertheless, gathering a navy and hastening the preparations for war. The money market in Japan has been greatly disturbed by the rumors of and preparations for war. Financiers are demanding higher rates of interest, and many foreigners are leaving.

RUSSO-JAPANESE TROUBLE.

RUSSO-JAPANESE TROUBLE.

PRESS REPORTS DISCREDITED.

[A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.]

NEW YORK, April 4.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that officials of the Russian Embassy are disposed to accept with great reserve the stories of prospective trouble between Russia and Japan over Korea. Ambassador Cassini stated that his information from Tokio respecting the feeling in Japan is entirely at variance with that published in the press reports. Russia is scrupulously observing the terms of the agreement made with the Japanese government in relation to Korea, and has no intention of precipitating war.

In other quarters there is an impression that the reports respecting possible trouble between Russia and Japan are invented by persons friendly to the English government to distract attention from South Africa. According to this theory Great Britain would be benefited if the world would concentrate its gaze upon the East rather than South Africa.

Japan, at this time, is not in condition to go to war with Russia, and to the assembling of the Japanese fleet at Kobe it is retierated that arrangements for this concentration were made months ago.

The admiral was in excellent humor when seen at his home tonight, and talked interestingly of a number of things in connection with his proposed candidacy, though concerning most questions asked him he requested that nothing be said at this time, as in due time he would make a statement to the public on the subject.

"Why is it, admiral, that you have decided to become a candidate for the Presidency?" he was asked.

"there is nothing to add to what has already been printed on the subject. If the American people went me to be their candidate for this high office, I shall gladly serve them. My determination to aspire to it was influenced by my friends, who have written letters suggesting that I should be a candidate. These communications have come from all over the country, some from New York, a large number from the South, and some from the Pacific Coast. It was in response to these suggestions that I have taken the course announced. Since the announcement was made I have received a number of telegrams from my friends, commending the action I have taken, and promising me their support. I am deeply gratified to them for their kindness. These are the considerations which have urged me to change my mind from the original statement I made on my return from Manila, that I would not be a candidate for the office."

plans for the future," suggested the reporter.

"On that point, I am not prepared to make any statement," answered the admiral. "I am consulting with my friends as to the course to be pursued. When the preser time arrives, I will make a statement of my intentions as to the future, and this will be very soon. Fending that, I prefer not to say anything for publication regarding them."

say anything for publication regarding them."

Admiral Dewey has some very decided opinions on matters of public moment, and while expressing them in private prefers not to make any public announcement of them at this time. Platforms for parties, he believes, are not made by candidates for the high office of President. In connection with his determination to run for the office, the admiral dwells with much pleasure and gratification on the warmth of the receptions that he has everywhere received in his various trips throughout the country, including the South particularly, and on numerous personal declarations that the people wanted him for President.

Much speculation has been indulged deciarations that the people wanted him for President.

Much speculation has been indulged in today by the public as to which of the great political parties the Admiral will ally himself with and from whom he expects to receive the nomination for the Presidency. To questions bearing on this subject he deciares that he prefers not to make any statement at this time. To those who have talked with him privately on the subject, however, and who are fully acquainted with his views, it is evident that he does not expect the nomination to come from the Republican party.

tion to come from the Republican party.

The Admiral, his friends say, has very decided views on the question of expansion, on that of a tariff for Puerto Rico and on others of great public interest, but he declined politely tonight to indicate them, on the plea that this is not the proper time for that. that.
The possibility of the admiral's nomination has suggested the query as to whether he would retain his position on the active list of the navy during the campaign which would follow. The admiral is disinclined to discuss this matter in advance of any nomination, but believes that it can be properly determined should the occasion arise. There is no reason, he feels, why he should not continue in the navy pending the election, as a nomination does not necessarily mean an election. These are known to be his views on this subject, and he would consider it entirely proper to remain in the navy, even though engaged in the activities of a heated campaign. "What will your platform be?" was the question next to that as to which party he expected to be identified with, that probably was the most frequent put to the admiral by his enquirers today. To these, however, he was noncommittal, and in a good-naturad way declined to make known his views at this time.

SOUND MONEY LEAGUE. OPPOSITION TO DISSOLUTION.
[A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.]

NEW YORK, April 4.- A majority of he Executive Committee of the Sound foney League are in favor of continuing the league and of taking part in the national campaign in case the Dem-peratic platform contains a free silver plank. It was the wish of J. Sterling Morton, formerly Secretary of Agriculture, and until recently the president of the league, to close up the organization and to have the balance in the treasury, amounting to something over $10,000, devoted to the continuance of publishing sound money arguments in a paper, the Conservative, published by him in Nebraska. The other members of the Executive Committee of the League were not in sympathy with Mr. Morton, either with his idea of closing the league or his plan for disposing of the treasury balance, and these differences of opinion are, it is said, responsible for Mr. Morton's decision to refuse reelection as president of the Morton, formerly Secretary of Agriculences of opinion are, it is said, responsible for Mr. Morton's decision to refuse relection as president of the league.

Aside from Mr. Morton, the members of the Executive Committee believe it is yet too early to give up the machinery which was created during the active work of the league. If the Kansas City convention nominates Bryan on the Chicago platform, it will, the committee argues, be necessary to have an effective organization to counteract the effort of the free silver people in order to prevent the latter from making decided progress.

A NEW COMPASS.

MORE ACCURATE THAN THE OLD KIND.

MORE ACCURATE THAN THE OLD KIND.

[Nature:] Many attempts have been made to construct a compass which is independent of the permanent and transient sources of error to which a ship's compass is subjected. The latest device is the Evoy patent compass, which is so arranged that it can be placed in a position where it is not subject to the magnetism of the ship—that is to say, it is hauled up to nearly the height of the masts, where it is supported on the jumper stay. To determine whether the steering compass of a ship is showing the correct magnetic course, the Evoy compass is hoisted up aloft, given time to settle, and then brought down again, the reading of the steering compass being taken at the same time. It is obvious, however, that in the course of being lowered the overhead compass would come again within the magnetic influences of the ship, and thus be liable to have its reading disturbed before being inspected by the officer on duty. An automatic contrivance '- therefore provided which locks the compass card as soon as the lowering is begun. Hence it is possible to check the indications of the compass on the bridge, exposed to the perturbing influences of the ship's magnetism, by those given by the Evoy compass high up beyond their reach. The instrument, which is mounted in such a way as to protect it from the effects of vibration and rolling, has been tested for some time on boards a number of vessels, and has, it is stated given satisfaction to the commanders.

The statues of Ibsen and Bjornson on the square in the new theater in Christiania have recently been unveiled, and it has been decided to retain them in spite of the protests of the originals as well as the press. A wealthy brewer of Copenhagen offered to buy them for his private gallery, but his offer was refused, although it was considered the best solution of the difficulty. But it was decided they should not be sold to a foreigner, bad as they were.

Phoenix Park and the Vice-Regal Lodge. The cheering was continuous all the way, and not a single hostile demonstration nor dissenting voice was heard at any point.

The Queen has never had a heartier welcome in the United Kingdom. The streets were lined with 7000 troops from the sateway to Phoenix Park, and the roadway thence to the Vice-Regal Lodge was guarded with an Irish constabulary force. There were mounted lines at the crossings and special guards of honor were drawn up, with bands at various positions. Between these files of scarlet passed the four landard time in thirty-nine years, and the city she received an address of welcome, and the city she handed the Lord Mayor the following received an address of welcome, and the corporation, their robes glow-have tendered me on behalf of yourself and your fellow-citizens on my arrival in the ancient capital of my Irish dominion. stabulary force. There were mounted lines at the crossings and special guards of honor were drawn up, with bands at various positions. Between these files of scarlet passed the four landaus with coachmen and footmen in royal livery. The Duchess Connaught, with her three children, were in one carriage and Princess Christian and Princess Henry of Battenberg were in the Queen's carriage. The Duke of Connaught's equerries-in-waiting, military staff and aldes-de-camp were in close attendance upon the Queen, and the escort of Life Guards in brilliant uniforms preceded and followed the carriages. It was a stately and picture-sque cavalcade that flashed by the spectators, who had been waiting for hours to see it, and when it came, they had only eyes for the little lady with white hair, whose aged face was brightened with a sympathetic smile, and when it had passed, it was the most natural thing in the world for them to sing "God Save the Queen."

The military arrangements in this splendid town-show had been admirably ordered by the Duke of Connaught, on lines followed by Lord Methuen in the Jubilee parade. The throng of spectators was smaller, but not less enthusiastic. The streets were not decorated as artistically as those of Amsterdam in the coronation parade of the young Queen, Wilhelmina, but there was a spiorious revel of color, red being: "Better loved by canna be; will ye no come back again?" The men at Trinity College to the inscriptions of welcome to the most touching being: "Better loved by canna be; will ye no come back again?" The men at Trinity College appeared in their hoods and gowns on the college green with a company of imperial Yeomanry not far away. At the Lord Chancellor's home, an immense khaki banner was dispirayed, and from another house hungs the fag which Sir Theophilus Shepatone raised at Pretoria when the Transval was annexed twenty years ago.

mina, but there was a glorious revel of color, red being the dominating tone. The names of Irish regiments were conspicuous in Merrion Square, and the inscriptions of welcome to the Queen were numerous, one of the most touching being: "Better lo'ed ye canna be; will ye no come back again?" The men at Trinity College appeared in their hoods and gowns on the college green with a company of imperial Yeomanry not far away. At the Lord Chancellor's home, an immense khaki banner was dispinyed, and from another house hung the flag which Sir Theophilus Shepstone raised at Pretoria when the Transvaal was annexed twenty years ago.

The American flag was even more conspicuous than it was at the London jubilee, for it was, seen in well-nigh every block. There was an official America window in Nassau street, from which Joshua Wilbour, the most popular Consul in Dubblin, surveyed the brilliant scerie with Consul Boyle from Liverpool behind him.

The city was brilliantly illuminated in the evening, and the streets were densely crowded with good-natured spectators exulting in the spiendors of the electric light and in the license offered by the jolliest town-show Dublin has known for a generation. It was a noisy, rollicking throng that kept possession of the roadway hour after hour, and the holiday was not rounded out until morning.

The popularity of this town-show has buchess of Connaught and ner usual ters, accompanied by members of 124 court, and attended by mounted equerries, and then more Life Guards.

Finally, amid almost perfect slience, save for the echo of cheers and crise of "God Save the Queen." from overside the city limits, came the Queen herself. Opposite her in the carriage sat Princess Christian and Princess Henry of Batterberg. The moment Her Malesty passed the gate enthusiasm broke loose. Bands struck up, men cheered and sang, bareheaded, and the women waved their handkerchiefs and struggled to get a better view, many of them even weeping.

Beside the Queen's carriage rode the Ouke of Connaught, commander of the forces in Ireland. During the five minutes when the Queen was receiving and answering the address of welcome, there was scarcely a lull in the frantic cheering from the crowds. Frequently Her Majesty nodded. In fact, she scarcely ceased nodding during the entire nine-mile drive.

After the Lady Mayoress had presented a bouquet to the Queen, the procession moved on. Behind Her Majesty came a dazzling escort of staff officers, more Life Guards and Dragons, and finally the Inniskillins; who were loudly cheered as they moved into line. It was a pageant such as had never been seen in Ireland before. At the Vice-Regal Lodge, Earl and Countess Cadogan welcomed the sovereign to their Irish residence.

The counter-demonstration emanating from the Irish Transvaal Committee proved a flasco. A few hundred men and boys started with torches, but the latter were quickly confiscated by the police. Minus their emblems the procession proceeded, but it was soon lost amid the crowd of sightsers who blocked the streets. The extent of Dublin's orderliness can be gauged from the fact that the police made no arrests during the entire day, although about one million persons crowded the narrow streets.

Until midnight the crowds surged through the thoroughfares, watching the liluminations; but by 1 o'clock p.m. Dublin was alleged to exist against her.

[A. P. DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—The third day of the local session of the Interstate Commerce Commission resulted in nothing particularly new being elicited from the various witnesses. Several wholesalers testified to the conditions under which their firms operated. Julius Kruttschnitt, general manager of the Southern Pacific, was the principal witness.

Asked by Judge Lovett of Texas if there was any difference in the cost of carload and less-than-carload freight is much greater. It began immediately with the sathering. Freight was in danger of being broken open. Switching, opening and locking of cars, weighing, checking and clerical work were to be considered, whereas, most of this is avoided in carload lots of freight. Expensive warehouses had

Justice Dyer of Palo Alto, who is un-der so much censure in this now noted case, was before the Board of Super-visors today in answer to a citation to show cause why his office should not be declared vacant. Dyer was repre-sented by Attorney Joseph Hutchinson of Palo Alto. While announcing the

to be built for less-than-carload freight, whereas, carload freight is taken from the cars by the consignee. Job-lot freight is always cumbersome and is not as compact as carload freight. He said that the cost of handling the job-lot freight is greatly in excess of the tariff that is made. He said the cost of operating in this city is greater than in Louisiana and Texas, owing to the price of labor.

In reply to C. A. Parker, attorney for the St. Louis Business Mens' League, witness admitted that the railroad had consolidating places at the terminals for less-than-carload freight. The witness was questioned as to the operating expenses. He showed clearly that the cost of coal here was two and three times as much as eastern and northern roads pay. Wages paid on this coast were also higher than elsewhere. DRUGGISTS' PETITION.

DRUGGISTS' PETITION.

(A.P. NIGHT REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—Attorney Christie of St. Louis introduced a petition that the San Francisco wholesale druggists had presented to the Transcontinental Freight Association in 1898. The St. Louis attorney's object in offering the petition was to place the San Francisco jobbers finally on record as striving to obtain a high differential that would shut out the St. Louis jobbers. In the drug line a differential of $1.40 was asked for in order to increase the margin in favor of the California dealers. If St. Louis dealers were compelled to pay $2.40, as the lessthan-carload rate was proposed to be, St. Louis could not get furinto the racific Coast field as the shipments made by the jobbers in that city are in less-than-carload jots. The California dealers, to obtain that $2.40 rate, were willing to have their own importation freight rates (carload shipments)—raised to $1.25. After this petition had been presented the differential was raised, but not so much as the San Francisco dealers demanded.

Attorney Pilisbury, who has charge of the case for the Pacific Coast Manufacturing and Jobbers' Association, has closed his case. Attorney Herrin, for the Southern Pacific, will present some evidence on Friday.

In the morning a session will be held to hear certain witnesses are about to leave the city.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

CHICO, April 4.—At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon Gen. John Bidwell, a pioneer of 1841, and founder of the city of Chico, died at his home near this city. Though past 80 years of age, Gen. Bidwell had up to the time of his death been active, and was superintending road work on his grounds when stricken with heart failure at 9 o'clock this morning. After being conveyed to his home he railied so rapidly that the physicians thought him out of danger. At 2 o'clock he suffered a second stroke which caused death half an hour later. Gen. Bidwell was born in Chautauqua county, New York, August 5, 1819. He came to California in 1841, first locating at Sutter's Fort. In 1848, he located at the present site of Chico, where he has since resided, and by thrift and far-sightedness accumulated properties of a value of over $1,000,000. In 1849 he was chosen a member of the first Constitutional Convention of California. as easily strike them from Bloemfontein as by following them up across the plains.

These inferences still leave the situation bewildering for the time being. The enormously superior British forces appear inactive in every part of the war field, waiting yet, probably, for the accumulation of material for a swift advance on the Transvaal frontier. The London military commentators and the public to some extent are irritated and confused by the situation. Details received of the scenes on Green Market Square, Cape Town, Tuesday, when Premier Schreiner encountered an English demonstration, show that the Premier, fearing personal violence, sought refuge in a restaurant. He was hooted, and tried to reach Parliament House, protected by police. The people shouted "traitor," but he succeeded in reaching the house. Finally the people again sang "God Save the Queen," when he raised his hat and the cheers, and was heard to say: "Reserve your judgment."

Three men were the victims of terrible accidents, and two victims of terrible accidents, and two of them will de. James Pierson, aged 69, and his son, George, aged 22, were buried under a mass of falling rock on the fourth level. George will recover, but the old man was so terribly crushed that hope was given up. Two days ago another member of this family had his fingers cut off.

Charles Edmonds, who works at the bottom of the shaft in mine No. 4 attempted to adjust the lever on the steel rage, but after the loaded car had been tempted to adjust the lever on the steel cage, just after the loaded car had been run in, by kicking it in place. Just at the moment he kicked the lever, the cage started up, catching his foot. In this manner he shot up the shaft 640 feet to the top at lightning speed, still hanging by one foot. He was taken from the cage in an unconscious condition, and will very likely die before morning. It seems wonderful that he was not killed instantly, as the cage makes the trip in a few seconds only.

TRAPPER SYLVA NOT TRAPPED [A. P. DAY REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—Today Attorney Lafe Pence, for Mrs. Craven, continued his cross-examination of Sylva, the Sausalito politician, who has given such important evidence for the Fair contingent, but the examination did not serve to weaken the testimony of the witness to any extent. Pence went over the case carefully, but Sylva was not to be trapped, and stood by his statements.

On several occasions he interjected sarcastic remarks on the methods adopted by the Craven side and seemed particularly pleased whenever an opportunity offered for him to make fun of the way the Cravens fell into the trap which he claims to have laid for them in the interest of the Fair side.

The feature of the meeting of the Redlands Contemporary Club on Monday afternoon-was the address of Mrs. Gen. H. W. Lawton, upon the need of the soldiers in the Philippines. In the work of the Red Cross she is partius larly interested, and she says that so long as there is an American soldier in the Philippine Islands, she will continue the philippine Islands, she will be philippine nind the grotesque punishments which Dante devised lies the inexorable fate of wicked character, nowhere else in Christian literature rendered with so stern a power.

Some people talk as if Dante were only the poet of the "Inferno." and they picture him as a gloomy, fearful person, severe and even vindictive. This is not at all true. Hell was. Dante had to go there:

"Christi Once must every man descend to depths of hell; Goest thou not in life? In death there must thou dwell."

says an old German mystic. But Dante was thankful enough to escape, and, once out, his whole nature expands with an exquisite tenderness. Nowhere in literature is there so wonderful assense of rellef and escape as we feel when, with Virgil and Dante, we emerge from the "blind world" into the sweet life-giving air, and watch the trembling of the dawn over the Mount of Purgatory, Hell was only a very small part of Dante's universe. Just as large was purgatory, and its inhabitants continually were renewed, for the pilgrim throng which he and Virgil now join, mounting continually upward, rejoicing in tortures that purify and promise, were continually upward, rejoicing in tortures that purify and promise, were continually upward, rejoicing in tortures that purify and promise, were continually upward, rejoicing in tortures that purify and promise, were continually upward, rejoicing in tortures that purify and promise, were contended to fully appreciate him as poet. AIL HAUL BETWEEN NEW YORK

IA. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The World says that a new $20,000,000 trunk line system between Chicago, New York and Boston, with an annual earning capacity of nearly $1,000,000 net, has been completed by the transfer of stock of the Bennington & Rutland Railroad to Percival W. Clement, president of the / Rutland Railroad. Besides Mr. [A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.] Clement there were present at the meeting when the deal was agreed to, H. G. Smith, treasurer of the Rutland Railroad, and Gen. J. G. McCullough and F. B. Jennings, representing the Frenor L. Park estate, which had majority of the stock transferred.

The deal means that President Clement, working in harmony with the Vanderbilt interests, has completed a ent. Working in narmony with the Vanderbilt interests, has completed a freight line between this city and Chicago having a greater water and shorter rail haul than any of its competitors.

It will be, in fact, the differential line of the New York Central road between New York and the West. The fixed charges are less than $400.000 annually. It is estimated that the capacity will be about 5000 tons per day. Freight leaving Chicago for New York or Boston will be taken by Rutland transit boats (formerly Ogdenburg Transportation Company) to Ogdenburg thence by rail to Rouse's Point, over the Rutland-Canadian Railroad (now being completed.) thence to Rutland, Vt., over the Champlain division of the Rutland Railroad, and thence to Troy over the Bennington & Rutland Railway. From there to New York it will be sent over the New York Central.

TEST PROSECUTION BY TREAS-URY DEPARTMENT.

[A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.]

CHICAGO, April 6.—A test is to be made by the Treasury Department in the case of Archibald D. Buchanan, who was arrested by government officers yesterday on the charge of having in possession plates and counterfeit stamps of foreign countries. The arrest was made on instructions from Washington, and on the investigation furnished by the officials at Detroit where Charles Clarke was recently washington, and on the investigation furnished by the officials at Detroit where Charles Clarke was recently taken in custody for selling similar stamps as genuine. At a hearing before United States Commissioner Humphrey, Buchanan was held to the Federal grand jury in $1000 bonds.

Buchanan was arrested by Secret Service Agent Porter and Postoffice Inspectors Farrell and Towlson. A trunk which was to have been sent to Clarke was seized by the officers and a complete outfit and hundreds of stamps, counterfeit and genuine, were confiscated. The counterfeit atamps were of all denominations, and there were many rare issues in the lot. The originals of some of these are valued at $75 each, and there were others almost as costly. There also were electrotype cuts for printing stamps amps and postmarks.

As Mrs. Hazen, she was never, to be sure, in a broad sense popular, but this was regarded as her own election, and she was credited with preferring the homage of a few, rather than the liking of the many. When she married Admiral Dewey, however, every one predicted that the old tactics would be abandoned. Not even her intimate friends denied that her ambitions pointed to the Executive Mansion, and it was thought that the little lady would make a bid for popular favor and endeavor to gain the good will of the multitude. Her scorn for the people has, on the centrary. for the people has, on the contrary been thinly veiled; her friends amiably sitributed this attitude not to inten-tion, but to lack of tact, a quality wanting, they say, in her make-up without which, and a fine discrimina-tion, no social success is worstble.

until the next day, hence the empty chair, the unexplained absence, which furnished gossip for many days thereafter.

The only way to account for Mrs. Dewey's unpopularity is her exaggeration of the position she occupies, for she not only offends society generally, but her old friends. Not knowingly, sne is a bundle of kindness, but unwittingly, through a misunderstanding of how really great people conduct themselves. When one recalls the grande dames who have graced Washington society, women like Mrs. Hamilton Fish, whose courtesy toward her inferiors was greater even than toward her equals, one cannot help but be amused at the snobbishness, to call it by no harder name, unconscious, perhaps, but still snobbishness, of the first lady of the navy. It would be kind to suggest to her that she take a course in social ethics.

John R. McLean, who is tactful and ambitious, and his wife, a woman of broad social experience, rare culture and deep understanding, has done much to cover and neutralize Mrs. Dewey's mistakes. Among the most notable entertainers at the capital, their functions this winter, given in honor of their sister and her husband, have excelled all those of previous years. At the celebrated musicale, one of the most elaborate ever attempted here, all society was present in its most gorgeous attire, all society save the ambassadors have a mission here not only to fulfill the official duties of their position, but to teach American society the diplomatic usages of foreign courts. An ambassador represents the person of his sovereign. At this capital he ranks next to the Vice-President, before even the Secretary of State. He cannot be invited "to meet" his official inferiors, hence, owing to Mr. McLean's mistake, there were no ambassadors present to hear Mme. Schurmann-Heink sing. to hear Mme. Schurmani

He laid the foundation for his great mind in the little district school, and he became proficient as a farmer lad. So that was the reason that Edwin M. Stanton and I were such friends.

"But I was going to tell you how I happened to come to Washington. I had been out in the One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Ohlo Regiment under Col. George McCook, one of the fighting McCooks, and Stanton's law partner. The Judge of the Common Pleas Court in Jefferson county had died and Gov. Brough had appointed, me to fill the vacancy. I served several months, until an election could be held, and was very glad to retire. I was only 21 years old and was no more capable of administering the law than a cow. You know, a boy of that age doesn't do much thinking. I had just gone into partnersly with a couple of legal friends under the firm name of Miller, Sherrard & Sharon. One day the office door opened and who should come if but. Stanton. He shook hands all around, wanted to know how everything was in Steubenville, and then turned to me and said:

"We then proceeded down to the ferry. Hardly a word was said while going across. We climbed up the rocks together, occasionally slipping back a little, but finally reaching a point that to Stanton seemed congenial. A beautiful place it is across the river from Steubenville. "It was about it o'clock when we reached this delightful place. Stanton sat down on a rock and for several-hours was in deep thought. He stroked his long whiskers time and again and now and then rubbed his temples, suggesting to me that he was struggling with some abstruse mental proposition, which doubtless he was. He was uncommunicative and I was independent. I said to myself: 'Old fellow, if you don't want to talk I won't force a conversation.'

"I got up and walked about, but at all times was within speaking distance.

STOPPING LEAKS.

NEW FIRE DEPARTMENT PLANS.

That requisitions for the purchase of supplies for the Fire Department have been used over and over again, to the financial advantage of the person originating them, and to the serious disadvantage of the city treasury, is more than suspected by Councilmen and members of the Board of Fire Commissioners. It is possible that before the work of investigation is concluded, the use of requisitions in that manner may be proven, but just now the board is busying itself in the effort of stopping all possible leaks.

At the regular meeting of the board yesterday Commissioner Mathus presented sixteen old requisitions representing orders for about $400 worth of goods. He asked that they be canceled and that the records in the City Cierk's office be made to show the cancellation. Some of them are dated as far back as 1897, and others are not two months old. They were found in the Chief's office when Moore vacated it. Why they were not either used or destroyed does not appear; but Mr. Mathus devised a plan to stop such carelessness. For that purpose he introduced the following:

"I move that it is the order of this

"I move that it is the order of this commission that all requisitions not used up during the month in which they are issued, and for the purposes for which they were issued, be returned to the commission on the first Wedneslay of each month to be destroyed," The motion was adopted unanimously Mr. Mathus stated that his attention had been called to a system which permitted great opportunities for corruption. He said the practice of using copy" requisitions is unbusinesslike in the extreme. As officer can secure a sequisition for, say, $100, and have it

This resolution was also adopted.

This is the beginning of a new system of keeping accounts in the fire department, and the system will be perfected in every way possible.

A general discussion followed, during which Mr. Balch of the San Gabriel Electric Company explained the workings of the new lamps and otherwise made clear to the two Councilmens some of the things which have caused trouble. Mr. Sliver said that this was clear enough to him, but the people did not understand it. He suggested that the companies prepare a statement to the Council setting forth an language that can be understood by persons who know nothing of electricity, just the cause of the trouble. This suggestion was adopted, and the statement will be presented at the next Council meeting through the Gas and Light Committee.

senuine affection for his children, Keith and Murray, and his studious effort to impress upon others the sacrifice he is willing to make, "a mere pretense and sham," for, she says, he has not visited the children for a long time, and immediately after the divorce he left for New York and has since remained there, although nearly all of his property and business interests are in this State.

Mrs. Vosburg states that she does not believe that he is staying away from California because the climate here is injurious to his health, but merely to gratify his own pleasure and his feeling of hatred toward her.

The mother now believes that Vosburg should be prohibited from visiting her children or even communicating with them. Before the divorce was granted, the court found that the boys, under their father's teachings, became rude, unmanneriy, disobedient and disrespectful to their mother. Since Mrs. Vosburg has had the sole care of them, however, they have improved wonderfully, and she claims that, if she can only shield them from contact or communication with their father, she will be able to bring them up as God-fearing and good cittsens. wonderfully, and she claims that, if she can only shield them from contact or communication with their father, she will be able to bring them up as God-fearing and good citizens. But if Vosburg be permitted to have anything further to do with them, it is alleged that he will use the privilege to instil into their minds his peculiar notions, and will use the permission as a cloak to annoy his former wife and by a single visit or by a single letter to undo the work of months.

Vosburg is alleged to keep writing to Keith and Murray of the fine time Roydon is having and what a fine time they could have if they were only with him. In all his letters to Murray he addresses him as "Tom," well knowing, it is alleged, that his mother dislikes "Tom," and is very eager to preserve his baptismal name, Murray. Vosburg is also said to make fun of Keith because he plays well on the violin, and to try to discourage him, keeps saying to him, sneeringly, "You do no; want to become a "indier," do you?"

Mrs. Vosburg ends her petition by saying that if her former husband is permitted to wish the children or to write to them, she can overcome his bad teaching and influence only by disclosing to them her estimate of his character and purposes—which she much, prefers not to be obliged to do. She further states that the breaking up of her family was due to his conduct, and if it be a hardship for him to be deprived of his children, he must pay the penality of his own acts. She asks to be permitted to rear and educate Ketth and Murray according to her best judgment as a Christian woman and to protect them against the baleful example and teachings of her former husband as she would protect them against the evil influence of a stranger.

BILLY HURT SKINNING SUCKERS IN LOS ANGELES.

BILLY HURT SKINNING SUCALES.

Billy Hurt, whose adjoitness as a sure-thing gambler has made him famoup on two continents, has not been in Los Angeles solely for his health during the last six months. Hurt arrived in Los Angeles just about the time that Chief of Police Elton was running the Poker Davis gang out of town. The Chief heard of his arrival and immediately sent Detective Auble to inform him that he could not do business here. Hurt assured the detective that his intentions were honorable; that he had married and foresworn gambling and that he would henceforth confine his endeavors to strickly legitimate pursuits. As proof of his good resolutions he exhibited a lot of oil lesses and informed the officer that his purpose was to become an oil operator on an extensive scale, which would leave him no time to angle for suckers.

an oil operator on an extensive scale, which would heave him no time to angle for suckers.

But Hurt's virtuous resolutions, if he ever made any in good faith, did not last long. The crop of suckers was too plentiful to be resisted. Establishing his headquarters in the rear of the Four Hundred saloon, close by the Westminster and Van Nuys Hotel, he is alleged to have lured many wealthy tourists to take a hand in the fascinating game of draw poker, much to their subsequent regret and to Hurt's profit. But if any tourists were fleeced, as rumor has it, they discreetly concealed their chaptin by not reporting their losses to the police.

Not so with one of the resident suckers, for it has leaked out that several sportively-inclined natives of the Angel City have had the temerity to sit in a game with the alleged champion poker player of the world. Although somewhat tardy in vouchaning the information, Chief of Police Elton yesterday modestly admitted that it was a fact that he had forced the able Mr. Hurt to disgorge 2505 which he had won from a local professional man in a poker rame at the Maison Dorce last day modesty admitted that it was a fact that he had forced the able Mr. Hurt to disgorge $200 which he had won from a local professional man in a poker game at the Maison Dorde last Thursday night. Two well-known local business men also sat in the game, but they did not squeal if they lost anything. When the professional man "hollered," Chief Elton had all the participants in the game summoned to his office. Hurt denied that it had been anything but a fair, scientific game, and gave the Chief to understand that he was neither a "farmer" nor a lawbreaker. Rather than have any troube, though, he disgorged the $200 he had won from the unhappy professional man, who pocketed his money and went his way rejoicing, after obtaining a promise from the Chief to prevent his name from getting

COLORED ACID THROWER CRE-ATES A SCENE IN COURT. COLORED ACID THROWER CREATES A SCENE IN COURT.

Lulu Mucker, the colored girl who threw carbolic acid into the eyes of Pauline Harris, created an exciting scene while in the Police Court for arraignment yesterday afternoon. She was brought up along with a lot of other prisoners, at 1:30 oclock, and took a seat in the farthest corner of the dock, where she sat weeping until her name was reached on the list. At the command of Justice Morgan, Bailiff Appel started to bring her forward toward the witness stand, so she could hear all that was said concerning her case. She followed the bailiff until she reached an open space in the jury box, when she suddenly gave a shriek and fell face forward to the floor with a thud that shook the building. With limbs and body stretched and rigid as a poker she lay flat on her face groaning and whining in a way that made the faces of the crowd of colored spectators in the courtroom turnalmost pale. Bailiff Appel and peputy Constable Mugnemi picked the wretched girl up and oropped her in a seat, while Mugnemi picked the wretched girl up and oropped her in a seat, while Mugnemi doused her face and head with cold water to restore her to her senses, but the unfortunate wench continued to groan and gurgle as though on the point of strangiling to death. Seeing that nothing could be done in her case while she remained in her state of collapse, the court ordered her returned to the women's ward of the City Jail. She had to be carried to her cell and it was some hours before her nerves were quieted.
Ex-Senstor Del Valle, who appeared as counsel for the young negress, waived formal arraignment until the date agreed upon for her preliminary examination, which was set for April

ard and containing a fifty-cent piece and a $1 silver certificate. The letter was a test missive, prepared by the inspectors.

Abraham was apprehended late in the afternoon and brought before United States Commissioner Van Dyke. He protested his innocence and stated that he had not seen the letter in question and had never handled it in the mails to his knowledge. The time of his preliminary examination was set for April 9 at 2 o'clock. His ball was fixed at $500. He was finally able to raise this amount, and last evening was discharged from custody.

Most of the complaints that have been received by the Postoffice Inspector have come from Mrs. Flora Paris Howard, who now resides in Boulder, Colo. Formerly Mrs. Howard lived in Los Angeles and her mail was delivered to a Broadway address. She was the author of a "thought-culture" publication known as "Idois Dethroned," from which the human mind was expected to derive much wisdom and solace regarding the common affairs of life. This exposition of mental development sold in the bookstores for 50 cents per copy, and owing to many people, both east and west, who needed enlightenment—a fact abundantly attested by the sums often sent in a common envelope—Mrs. Howard's mail often contained coins or bills. Much of this money did not reach its destination and many complaints were made to Mrs. Howard that orders had not been filled. She in turn forwarded them from Colorado to the local office, stating that some one in Los Angeles had been comfirmed by a number of little incidents, they prepared a decoy letter, addressed to Mrs. Howard, and inserted in it a silver half-dollar and a silver certificate of the denomination of $1. This letter was mailed at the postoffice, was stamped and turned over to the distributing clerk, He inserted it in a large bunch of mailed envelopes, fixing it so that it protruded beyond the rest and was in plain view. The bundle of letters he gave to Abraham. Had the rules of the office, been strictly followed this test letter should have been retu was arrested Tuesday on the charge of hawking oleomargarine, appeared before Justice Morgan yesterday, with counsel, W. T. Craig and Paul Burks, and demanded a jury trial, which was set for April 18. Terry was required to file a $100 bond.

William Vanderbilt, secretary of the State Dairy Bureau, who is directing the prosecutions which have just been commenced, says it is his duty to see that the law in regard to the sale of oleomargarine is enforced in all parts of the State. He has his agents at work in every county where there is suspicion that bogus butter is sold, and they are instructed to ferret out all violators of the law and have them punished.

It was stated yesterday that actions would probably be brought against W. H. Maurice, in whose warehouse a large quantity of oleomargarine is alleged to have been found, the agents of the Swift Packing Co. and others owning or claiming interest in the contraband goods.

SUNDAY-CLOSING CASES.

TRIAL OF A. DELLACQUA BEGUN. OTHERS PENDING. OTHERS PENDING.

The trial of another Sunday-closing case was commenced in Justice Austin's court yesterday. The defendant is A. Dellacqua, proprietor of a saloon on South Main street, who is charged by Officer J. M. Baker with keeping open house on Sunday, March 11. The entire day was spent in securing a jury, good timber for jury service being found exceedingly scarce. Finally a jury was impaneled and an adjournment was taken till 8 o'clock this morning.

Fred Miller pleaded not guilty to a charge of keeping open saloon on Sunday, in Justice Morgan's court, and had his trial set for April 24.

F. Roetzer, charged with a similar offense, had his trial set for April 18, in Justice Morgan's court.

malled envelopes, fixing it so that it protruded beyond the rest and was in plain view. The bundle of letters he gave to Abraham. Had the rules of the office been strictly followed this test letter should have been returned to the distributing clerk, marked "forward to Boulder, Colo," within ten minutes.

Abraham neglected to do this, but instead left the office, got on his wheel and rode away. That is why he will have to answer to Uncle Sam regarding the manner he has discharged his trust. The inspectors assert that they have other evidence which will be forthcoming at the proper time. The officials at the Federal building feel sorry that Abraham is in such a plight, as he has a wife and child dependent on him for support.

Prof. W. L. Watts presented to the board a geological relief map, showing oil deposits in the Puente hills. Prof. Watts reviewed at length his work during the last two years, and stated the difficulty of obtaining accurate data regarding the loil stratum from personal investigation. The speaker also explained the value of relief maps in showing the formations in which oil is found. The map was accepted by the board, and a vote of thanks given Prof. Watts.

Bosten Citrus-fruit Market.

BOSTON (Mass.,) April 4.—(Exclusive Dispatch.] There were only sixteen cars of California oranges sold at auction here today. The market showed an advance on all grades, and especially on strictly fancy sound navels, which are in splendid demand and bringing fine prices. This kind of stock seems to be getting scarcer at every cale although there is plenty of ordinary and medium grade being offered. There were twenty-two cars on the track unsold after today's sale. WORLD'S SILVER. In 1899 the production of eilver showed an increase of about one and a quarter million cunces, the total being 165,295,572 ounces, against 164,073,172 in 1897. In 1899, 170,000,000 ounces are estimated to have been produced. Mexico led with 56,733,000 ounces; the United States was second with 54,435,000. Then comes a decided drop to Australia with 13,021,682 ounces, Bolivia with 8,204,568, and so on.

COMMERCIAL. PRUIT JARS DEARER. There has been a very stiff advance in fruit jars. In the largest lots bought the makers are getting $5.00 per gross. In smalles lots direct from the manufacturer the FUTURE SALMON. It seems very likely that the season's pack of salmon will be handled under a strong combination. The Columbia River pack is already about all included in a strong organization, one large New York house to do all the distributing. It is now said that this house will control under similar conditions all the Puget Sound pack. The Alaska fish is mostly controlled by the Alaska Fackers' Association. With a market bare of old pack, with a rapidly widening world demand, and these combinations of packers, it looks like a strong salmon market.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

SUBSTITUTES FOR RUBBER. That

rubber and guita percha, substitutes for insulating purposes, and the proposition now actively agitated to extend the great sea cable telegraph service of the world by laxing a submarine cable from the United States to the Philippine Islands brings the question up for immediate consideration. The use of rubber for electrical insulation is not the only direction in which the article has increased in use in the past few years. Pneumatic tires for vehicles have called for quite double the supply that was available previous to the general adoption of those innovations. The output of the rubber forests of Bravil and Singapore has not responded in proportion to the increased demand.

The election of fifteen freeholders to draft a special charter for the city will take place on May 11, instead of April 27, as proposed in the ordinance introduced at yesterday's Council meeting. This change was decided upon at a special meeting of the Board of

PROBABLE CASE OF MURDER.

SANTA BARBARA. April 4.—[Regular Correspondence.] News was received here this evening of what will probably prove to be a murder committed late this atternoon at a point five miles south of Lompoc. John W. Smith, a railroad hand, was shot and probably fatally wounded by a fellow workman named Hend. Smith boarded a baggage stage over the coast road at Gaviota, taking a seat with the driver. At the San Julian Rancho Hend got aboard. The men were drinking and soon fell out. Hend shot Smith through the meck from a seat on top of the stage. The ball passed downward into the chest, and at 9 o'clock Smith was very low. Hend remained aboard the stage, went into Lompoc, and gave himself up to a deputy sheriff.

The librarian has been making close observations of the use of books and states that children, as they so, take better care of volumes loaned them than do grown persons. The new roll will increase the circulation of the library to quite an extent. The institution is maintained by a public library tax.

HIGH SCHOOL AGITATION.

The school trustees of this city are making every endeavor to untangle the State bond law and to call for an issue of from $50,000 to $50,000 High School bonds. They have determined to have the City Council issue the call but so many preliminaries must be gone through with that it seems likely to be some time before the needed High School can be built. It was thought until last night that a splendid site could be secured at the corner of de la Vina and Anapama streets, but the property is a part of an estace and no option can be secured. Before bonds can be issued a location must be chosen and without an option the price of any property might be raised as soon as the bond election should carry. At a meeting of the school trustees last night the matter of getting at a title to the proposed site was turned over to the City Attorney with orders to make a report at as early a date as possible. WATER COMPANY STRIKES A BIG AND LIVELY GUSHER.

Located Near the Davis Tract in San Bernardino County and Expected to Yield One Hundred and Fifty Inches. Two Elections-Alleged Murderer

RIVERSIDE, April 4.-[Regular Cor respondence.] Yesterday the Riverside Water Company struck another big gusher in San Bernardino county. The water in the well gushes twelve inches over the casing. Superintendent Cuttle believes the well will easily yield over 150 inches of water, which will give the Riverside company the second largest well in San Bernardino county. The well is located near the 575-inch gusher well is located near the 375-inch gusher on the Davis tract, which caused such a sensation in Southern California last summer. The strike comes £t a particularly opportune time, as Capt. Davis has refused to rent the water to the company this year, and the water was shut off from the Riverside ditches about ten days ago. The strike was made at a depth of 540 feet, and insures an abundant supply of water for Riverside this summer. The well developed yesterday is the fourth in £he district that is now flowing over 100 inches. The Riverside company has a large tract of land in line with these wells.

Colorade Atterney Dead.

J. E. Rockwell, Esq., of Deriver, and quite well known throughout Colorado, died in Los Angeles yesterday at 4:30 o'clock p.m., at the residence of his uncle, Dr. D. C. Bennett, No. 1188 West. Twenty-fifth street. Deceased was aged 50 years, and came to this city in February, in the hope that the sunny climate of Southern Callfornia might restore his failing health, but it was too late. He had been ill at the home of Dr. Bennett for six weeks. Mr. Rockwell was an attorney of recognized ability in his State, and made his mark as counsel for various mining and other corporations, fighting their legal battles in the higher courts. Arrangements for the funeral had not been made at a late hour last night.

A Drug Store Burglarized.

The Central Avenue Pharmacy, corner Fifth street and Central avenue, was entered by burglars some time between midnight and dawn yesterday morning. There were two money drawers in the place, one of which was broken open in the store and the other carried to a vacant lot, where it was emptied of its contents. The thieves are dimensionally as the first contents. The thieves are dimensionally of the drug store was found yesterday morning with the money drawer in the vacant lot. The burglars entered the front door by means of a skeleton key.

Industrial Home for Boys.

W. C. Howell, colored, was taken out of a second-hand store on East First street yesterday afternoon by Officer Henderson and locked up on a charge of petty larceny. Yesterday morning Howell and two others entered one of the many second-hand stores on East First street, and after they left twas discovered that a pair of shoes were missing. Later in the day, it is stated, Howell attempted to sell the those in another store, and was de-

The principle of vicarious atonement rorked well at the County Jail in the ampaign for cleanliness. Some of the leieus occupants of the tanks thought would be funny to squirt tobacco tice out through the bars, for sheer cractory devilment. They would not each on each other, but Sheriff Hambel adopted the rule of committing to the dungeon the man opposite whom he tell-tals filth was found. After few applications of this discipline, the obacco fountains stopped playing.

"One of the things the county of Los Angeles has outgrown," says Sheriff Hammel, "is its jail. There is need of a department for boys and of quarter for women. We ought to have a yard. Suitable conveniences for disposing of waste should be provided. The laundry is not large enough. Everything is too contracted. The county should have a new jail, and it would be a good plan to turn the present structure into a hall of records."

T. E. Gibbon, Esq., returned home from Washington and the Eastern States yesterday, after an absence of three weeks. He says the War Department will rush the new contract for the San Pedro breakwater, as The Times has been assured, while Senator Bard and Congressman Waters expressed to him their conviction that the appropriation for the inner harbor will easily go through Congress during its next session.

One of the big fire engines of this city, will be taken to the Riverside afreet fair next Tuesday. A crew and the horses belonging to the machine will go along, and will give an exhibition of how water is thrown on a burning building. The Chamber of Commerce is also trying to get a party of 100 members to visit the fair the same day.

HOME NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Mocha Skins and Gloves.

So much deception has been practiced by glove dealers that we have planned to show our customers what a genuine mocha skin is. In one window and at the counter you will find some of the genuine skins tanned and ready for the glove cutter. You will be shown the difference between these skins and lamb's skin or sheep skin, which is commonly called mocha skin. At the same time we will sell the regu-lar $1.50 quality of real mocha skin gloves at $1.15 a pair. These are not to be confounded with the lamb's skin gloves with mocha skin finish, because they are the genuine goods. They come in black, brown, tan, mode, blue,
